September'2020

Dedicating this edition to the Teaching Fraternity-An ode to the teachers, The unsung Heroes on the occasion of Teachers' day Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan's Birthday.

“Better than a thousand days of diligent study is one day with a great teacher.”

‘A good-humored teacher conveys a sense of happiness, is quick to smile and find the fun in situations in a way that brings the teaching moment into focus.’

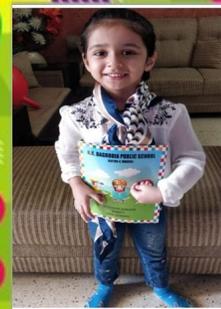

With the pandemic attack over the world, it became difficult to comprehend the changed dynamics around. It became hard to dwell in the same pattern as before. In this constantly changing world, the mind-set of people has changed tremendously. With the onset of lockdown, the students and parents were apprehensive about the education process, about the means of spread, about their understanding, their self-dependence; in short, a halt in the process of growth. But as expected, the teachers proved to be the blessings who ensured that nothing can come in the way of imparting education.

The teachers, who used to be ones who strongly negated the use of mobiles as a means of distraction, have now themselves learnt the art of connecting with their students through technology. They came in like the unsung heroes who comforted the parents in their times of crisis and helped them in paving way towards a secure process of educating their children. The teachers swiftly adapted themselves to the new normal by sharing their experiences and methodologies of handling the technology to ensure maximum benefit to the students. As a matter of fact, there were new faces to deal with, both for the students as well as the teachers but they tried to bridge the gap by communicating with them regularly, by organizing class parties or by meeting them virtually on a festive day. They did not disregard any child's need during any time of the day and pledged to work 24X7.

With the celebration of virtual teachers' day, the students got a chance to show their gratitude towards their teachers for all their hard work they did and the confidence they showed in them. This not only helped the students in understanding the curriculum well but also helped them in scoring well in their mid-term examinations. Even the students who were unable to appear for the examination virtually were given a chance at second attempt so that there is no barrier in the spread of education and everyone gets an equal chance to gain knowledge.

A TEACHER

It is truly said, “A good teacher can inspire hope, ignite the imagination and instill a love of learning”.

It has now become the mantra for 130 crore Indians.
